Employment law training 2010

Updates and workshops

Welcome to the spring season of breakfast updates and half-day workshops from Lewis Silkin LLP's employment team. This programme is aimed mainly at HR managers and those with equivalent experience of dealing with workplace employment issues – but we'd be delighted to welcome you whatever your background or grounding in employment law.

Breakfast updates 9.00 am - 10.30 am

breakfast will be served from 8.30am

What's happening in employment law

12th March

18th March

Best to book early – we're always over subscribed for our regular updates on the latest legal developments of importance for HR specialists. Once again, there's no shortage of new issues to talk about. We'll be looking at where we are with the Equality Bill, proposed regulations on equal treatment for agency workers, whether sick notes are becoming 'fit notes' and all the latest cases and other upcoming changes.

Data protection for HR

26th March

Data protection and employee privacy is an area sometimes neglected by HR professionals, yet it's more important than ever for organisations to process personal information fairly and lawfully. This topical briefing will focus on the practical impact of the legislation for employers and how to develop and implement effective policies and systems.

General election special

21st April

There's a joker in the pack when looking at the workplace agenda for next year and beyond. The next general election must take place by 3 June 2010, with 6 May – the date of the local elections – being touted as the most likely. What plans do the main parties have for employment law if they win? With Labour in charge we got the minimum wage, working time regulations and new discrimination rights – and we've seen the statutory discipline and grievance procedures come and go. What will be on the cards this time round?

Pensions overview: the changing landscape

5th May

The UK pensions world is once again under pressure, from a seemingly never-ending stream of Government consultations, legislative changes and economic and social pressures. But what are the crucial implications and action points for employers? This session, presented by our good friends Sackers LLP – the UK's leading specialist pensions law firm – will cut through the jargon and explain what you need to know in just the right amount of detail.

Workshops

9.30 am - 12.30 pm

breakfast will be served from 9.00am

Our interactive workshops combine a full discussion of the topic, with the opportunity to learn from us and the experience of other participants. We use case studies in small groups to help you get the most out of the morning. For those who can stay, we lay on a buffet lunch.

Avoiding discrimination claims

20th May

Got too much time and money on your hands? A juicy discrimination claim or two will soon sort you out ... They're a great way to harm your organisation's reputation too. This tried and tested seminar will spell out the best strategies for avoiding troublesome and damaging discrimination litigation. We'll help you recognise when trouble is brewing, explain how to respond and advise on ways to minimise the impact of claims that can't be averted. We'll also update you on the latest developments in discrimination law, including the Equality Bill.

Maternity and parental rights

27th May

With the government proposing a radical extension of paternity leave rights and a revised European directive on parental leave in the pipeline, it looks like the workplace is set to become friendlier than ever towards families over the coming months and years. We'll run over the existing law on maternity and parental rights and cover everything you need to know about the changes in store.

Mock Employment Tribunal

17th June

Come and experience the drama of an employment tribunal without running the risk of losing! This is a wonderful opportunity to gain an understanding of how tribunals work in practice. In a mock hearing, we'll be exploring some of the tricky issues thrown up by a claim of religion and belief discrimination. Presided over by a real tribunal judge, lawyers from Lewis Silkin will take you through the witness statements and – with your help – question the witnesses. Guided by the experts, you will experience:

- The structure of tribunal proceedings
- Good and bad ways to give evidence
- The art of cross examination
- How the justification defence to discrimination claims operates

Finally, after hearing all the evidence, you'll have to chance to cast your verdict ...

Webinars

1.00pm - 2.00pm

Why not also join us for one of our webinars? They are a convenient and interactive way to access the latest in employment law without leaving your office. You and your team can participate individually from your desks or together with a group of colleagues in a meeting room over lunch. All you need to participate is access to the web.

So that our webinars are as topical and relevant as possible we prefer to decide on the topics nearer the time. Watch out for further details!

To make sure you are on our webinar mailing list, email us at events@lewissilkin.com and we'll add you. We always love to hear your ideas for webinar topics so please let us know what you are most interested in hearing about.

In-house training

Prefer to receive your training in the comfort of your own building? Lewis Silkin can offer you top quality, bespoke training tailored to meet your issues and your business context. As with all our sessions, we avoid dry technical exposition, preferring to match the style of your organisation to make our sessions accessible, relevant and fun.
